

TERESA KOGUT

Trained as a fine artist, Teresa fell in love with the primitive style of early America and began developing a wide portfolio of original images. She came to the licensing venue through the gift industry where she found a niche in 1995, selling her framed primitive folk art throughout the US. It was not long before Teresa garnered a lot of attention for her delightful and unique style, and licensees were quick to sign Teresa for new product introductions.

Today she has over 55 licensees with hundreds of products on the marketplace. Her licensees include fabric, bedding, wallpaper, kitchen & bath textiles and accessories, rugs, flags, coasters, calendars, note cards, books, photo albums, counter savers, journals, greeting cards and boxed cards, bookmarks, magnets, shades, night lights, lamps, woven throws, pillows, mail box covers, ceramic trays, wall hangings, gift wrap, gift bags, stacked boxes, framed art, prints, stationery, frames, figurines, ornaments, snow globes, plush teddy bears, ceramic clocks, plaques, placemats & napkins, clocks, trays, candles, candle accessories, paper plates, napkins, cups, tabletop (including dinnerware) & house wares, and many, many more.

Teresa and her family live in Michigan on a beautiful hilltop with a fishing pond for her two small boys and husband, Kevin, and a large studio for her growing licensing endeavors. Teresa considers that she has the best of all possible worlds: doing what she loves best – painting – and staying at home with her family. Teresa has yet to tap the true depth of her talent and the wealth of ideas just waiting to take form on her art paper.
